Wisconsin Women in Government Seeks Professional Women to Join Its Board of Directors

Interested Women Should Apply by June 20, 2016

MADISON – Wisconsin Women in Government (WWIG) today announced it is seeking professional women to join the WWIG Board of Directors for the 2016-2017 year. The all-volunteer board directs fundraising, programs and operations for Wisconsin Women in Government. To apply, women should send their resume and a cover letter describing why they would like to join the WWIG Board of Directors by June 20, 2016 to info@WiscWomenInGovernment.org.

“Wisconsin Women in Government is fortunate to be led by some talented women and we are looking for a few new faces to join our board of directors. Join our mission of supporting women pursuing careers in government service,” WWIG President Megan Purtell said.

The Wisconsin Women in Government Board of Directors is seeking talented women in public service who represent a wide range of skills and interests from throughout the state. There are a limited number of spots available on the Board at this time.

While comprised of volunteers, the WWIG Board of Directors is a working board in which members are expected to contribute their talents to a variety of activities such as fundraising, event planning, budgeting and communications, to name a few. The Wisconsin Women in Government is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization and the Board of Directors meets monthly. WWIG board members are also expected to be involved in WWIG's committees and events.

We are also looking for volunteers to join our Gala, Programs, Communications, and Fundraising committee for the 2016-2017 year. Next year will be our 30th Annual Scholarship and Recognition Gala, if you have 2 – 3 hours a month available, please contact us to assist in our planning of the 2016-2017 year.
